

Early Hobbes

Prof. Alan Cromartie
University of Reading

The Author:

Alan Cromartie is Professor of the History of Political Thought at the University of Reading. He is the author of Sir Matthew Hale: law, religion, and natural philosophy (Cambridge, 1995) and The constitutionalist revolution: an essay on the history of England (Cambridge, 2006), and the editor of Thomas Hobbes, A dialogue between a philosopher and a student, of the common laws of England (Oxford, 2005) for the Clarendon Edition of the Works of Thomas Hobbes. He is writing a book about Hobbes and collecting material for a more general history of seventeenth-century English intellectual life provisionally entitled Hooker to Locke.