

The End of Enlightenment: death and the philosophers, 1776-1809

Professor Richard Whatmore
University of St Andrews

The author:

Richard Whatmore is Professor of Modern History at the University of St Andrews and director of the St Andrews Institute of Intellectual History. He was formerly Professor of Intellectual History and the History of Political Thought at the University of Sussex. Whatmore works on eighteenth and early nineteenth century political thought and political economy. He is the author of Republicanism and the French Revolution (Oxford, 2000), Against War and Empire (Yale, 2012), What is Intellectual History? (Polity, 2015) and most recently the edited collection, with Béla Kapossy and Isaac Nakhimovsky, entitled Commerce and Peace in the Enlightenment (Cambridge, 2017).